I've long felt a lack of ritual in my life. But no more. Saturday morning now means rolling out of bed, grabbing a coffee, and zipping over to the Riverview for their weekly 11 a.m. roller-coaster ride with directors like John Woo, Tsui Hark, Wong Kar Wai, and more (after which we repair to Peking Garden in Dinkytown for some serious dim sum action). On the other hand, my raver pals like to begin their night/morning of partying at the Friday and Saturday midnight screenings. Asian Media Access always picks the best action flicks, be they period kung-fu epics or modern shoot-'em-ups. Once hooked, you can become a member and get tickets in bulk at $3 each. Can't beat it.
